THE TELEGRAPH.
Friday Morning, June 18, 1880.

LOCAL NEWS.

—Landlord Field, from Fredonia, was in town on Wednesday last.

—Councillor Ed. Pich was in town on Wednesday, looking after that lot on Nathan street. It has a burden of grass.

—Our marine list failed us last week, but our reporter is on hand again the present with a list that it will do to look at.

—The pilot-house of the tug Dragon, early the other morning was swept off by a line that was stretched across the creek.

—Mr. Appleby, the sexton, had the shoulder of a valuable cow broken the other night, in some unaccountable way, while tethered in the grass.

—A Temperance Lecture by Mr. H. B. Castle, will be given at the Opera House, on Sunday afternoon, 20th inst., at 3:30 o'clock. Subject—Cost of Bad Habits.

—We hear of a third candidate—Lake County—for Gen. Garfield's shoes. Mr. Buny Burrows is the man spoken of. He will carry respectably into the canvass.

—Mr. Hinson of the Geneva Express, while in town on Tuesday last, extended to the TELEGRAPH office the courtesy of the craft. He says that business is booming.

—O. N. G., 10th Reg't, of which the Ashtabula Light Guards form a component part, goes into camp at Rocky River for a week, beginning with Wednesday next.

—Business at the Harbor, as shown by the well occupied ore docks, is logical in favor of the growth and increase that may be looked for year by year, as the increased facilities provided.

—Paulus Post has an invitation from Dyer Post of Painesville, to take part with them in unveiling the soldiers' monument on the third—to be erected at that place. A pleasant occasion is looked for.

No bids were taken by the Commissioners for the work at the Gulf on Tuesday last. That for which proposals were expected, was on this side of the bridge. A contract has been taken for work on the south side.

—The entertainment of the Union Spy, under the auspices of the Ashtabula Light Guards, failed to prove itself a paying institution, although the performance was well greeted by the audiences present on the three last evenings of last week.

—Mr. Strader's water works are in working order, and has the range of his premises. A lawn of unequalled beauty will, no doubt, be one of the advantages apparent to the public. A pleasure that we may all enjoy, whether afoot or horseback.

—It will be seen by a notice in another column, that an Ashtabula county picnic, will be held near Jefferson on the 3d, the speech of the occasion to be given by Judge L. S. Sherman. Let the crowds be equal to the merits of the orator of the day.

—The Esperanza Mill and Mining Co., is the title of a mining company in the city of Esperanza, Arizona, made up of citizens of Painesville. The company is pushing things along vigorously, and is encouraged by very good indications of a favorable return.

A Columbus dispatch to the Herald gives information that the N. E. Mutual Aid Association, of Ashtabula, has filed with the State Commissioner of Insurance its statement as required by the Hollingsworth act, and its bond in the sum of $25,000.

—Beside Humphrey's lime kiln dock, the gales have been driven for that of ex-Mayor Morrison. From these good examples, may we not expect that the pile driver will find work for whole strings of docks between the bridge and the old docks?

—The Senior—L. W. Smith, of the Ashtabula Store, reached home on Saturday last, and left for N. Y. city. Mr. J. L. Smith and mother are still in California, at the town of Coulton. That mill at Globe City which is to attempt out from three to five dollars a ton, is not yet ready for filling its mission.

—A bicycle with its rider, passed through town on Tuesday last, from Erie, bound for Ashtabula. His tarry was a short one, and then he was off as fresh and graceful as if just starting out. The time for the 40 miles was about four hours. In all the range of motion, there is nothing more quiet and graceful than this new means of propulsion.

Leadville is under martial law with 1,000 armed men and 1,500 citizens partially armed, on duty on Sunday last. The occasion of the alarm is the threatening movements of the strikers, 500 of whom paraded the streets. A charge was made upon them by a squadron of cavalry, though no life was destroyed.

—The cow bug is no less prompt and attentive to business than the potato bug. It is a week ahead and got his work well along. Mr. Dunbar says that about one-half his crop of grapes are already disposed of. Peaches, he says, are not molested as yet, but every apple on some of his trees have been destroyed.

—We have on exhibition at the TELEGRAPH office, a pair of Wilson's rubber spring shoes for horses with tender feet. The patent meets with general favor, as the shoes are a humane and merciful relief to that servicable animal, which man in his thoughtlessness and recklessness has subjected to so many infirmities. They are made and set by Mr. Silas Slout of Rock Creek.

—Civil Engineer Sloan had the dredges removed to the upper side of the bridge on Monday, for cutting out the east bank of the creek—the work below having been completed so far as practicable until O'Neill's store shall be removed. A 150 foot channel in the place of that heretofore narrow curve, makes the passage of the bridge a much easier and safer operation, with a large propeller—such as the ore trawls is now so generally confined to.

—A tremendous fire occurred at Titusville on the 11th, by a flash of lightning striking a 20,000 barrel tank of oil, which burst, and running down the hill upon which it was located, set fire to several others, which in their turn also burned, and laid fair to furnish a blazing surface to the creek and burn everything in its range. A large amount of property was destroyed, estimated at a million, and much difficulty was encountered in putting out the flames.

—The Jaynes family had a gathering on Friday last at the house of Mr. Edwin Crook in Orwell. The tribe is numerous and a good time is generally vouchsafed.

—The Stults family had a gathering a few days before at the house of R. E. Fillmore in Dodgeville. The annual gatherings of this family generally afford the best satisfaction, though we have not heard especially of the result of the past one.

—A tramp, on Monday night last found the coat of Thomas Griswold, where it had been left the evening before, in his barn, and appropriated it. When found the coat was on the tramp's back. A pocket-book with some valuable papers, had been removed from it, and placed in another pocket. A search by officers Renuick and Thorpe, brought to light all the stolen property, and Justice Heath demanded a recognizance of $500 of the fellow, and in the non forthcoming of which he was sent to Jefferson.

—Daisies, like the Canada thistle, is one of the curses of the farmer. A sight of them anywhere—however small the patch—is painful to behold, for it is a reminder that without persistent attention and labor, the fields will soon be white with them, and the grass run out. L. Tyler's land and a lot of George Cooper's adjoining, we notice, have well started patches, which Mr. C. has cut early enough, perhaps, to prevent seeding this year, but they will all be on hand next season. We caution the owners of this land that it stands them in hand to grub them out root and branch. We have seen the effect of them in Connecticut, and therefore, do not speak of them at random.

—Messrs. Ed. Crook and S. Kile, of Orwell made us a call of both courtesy and business, on Monday last—one to pay for a copy of the TELEGRAPH, and the other to enter his name upon our list. These gentlemen are both prominent citizens.—Mr. Crook a successful and intelligent farmer and Mr. Kile a lumber dealer and manufacturer of that article. Mr. Crook was particularly interested in the development of the Harbor, and its railroad and commercial facilities. Of the growth and importance of Ashtabula with the business of the great railroad companies on either side of the creek, and the favorable location of the Harbor to the coal fields of the South and East, and for the carrying trade of ore to the mills of the valley of the Mahoning, he thinks are evidences that there is a future for Ashtabula.

—The High School Reception and Reception of graduates and friends, took place on Friday evening at the residence of Mr. Ed. Willard. The gathering was quite large, and made up of our best citizens. The occasion, like its predecessors, was very agreeable, and left an impression that will be cherished with their annual recurrence. These occasions are made not only pleasant but profitable. The graduates of the present and past are brought into closer and fresher knowledge of each other, and a continuity of sympathy and good feeling is established; that portion of the public more or less identified with educational matters, become better informed of the characters of the graduates, and are, therefore, better qualified for meeting them with attention and kindly offices, and better fitted for judging correctly of the advantages derived from the influence and teachings of those entrusted with their education—their qualifications for becoming, in their turn, educators of those who come after them either in the school, the church, or the family. In these respects, with pupils, as well as others, these annual receptions and reunions are growing in favor and respect.

—Mr. H. S. Manger has finished the enumeration of the incorporated village of Geneva and reports that there are 400 dwelling houses, 473 families and 1,887 inhabitants in said village.

—The young ladies Missionary Band of the B. E. church, will give a Lawn Fete on Friday evening, June 18th, at Dr. E. L. King's. Admission, 10 cents; strawberries, ice cream and cake, 15 cents. A cordial invitation is extended to all. It.

THE PROCESSION.—Quite an unusual display was to be seen upon our streets, on Tuesday afternoon last, which attracted the attention and stirred the curiosity of our citizens. Rev. Bishop Gilmore paid a visit to this portion of his diocese, and a bit of demonstration was decided upon—such as we suppose is more common in Catholic countries than here. Some 140 or 150 of the laity, gathered at the church, embracing St. Joseph's Total Abstinence Society, in full regalia, with mounted marshals—Manning—and some half a dozen more, also mounted, as a body guard, riding on either side of the coach-and-four in which his Reverence—the Bishop and Rector Conway held seats. The procession was led by a band of music, with a couple of national flags which flanked their significant patriotism and beauty, between which were entwined the elegant and sparkling insignia of emerald and gold. That which gave especial weight and effect to the whole, was the booming and bellowing of a piece of artillery on which measured and startling detonations, the caused a rather perceptible shaking in the shoes of our citizens—protestants as well as Catholics, and we all felt that the world was perceptibly moving. The peccable effect was fine and the impression will not soon be forgotten. A somewhat critical survey of the procession was taken for the venerable and jove-like head of our friend of the Standard, whose political instincts are considerably sharp, but he was nowhere to be found. It could be accounted for in no other way, than by his fear of gunpowder in sacerdotal hands.

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH.

Temperance Pic-Nic.

The undersigned having been appointed at the last meeting of Ashtabula County Temperance Society a committee to arrange for a Temperance picnic for July fourth, would report the following program.

1st. All Temperance organizations, churches, sabbath schools and granges in the county are earnestly urged to attend in a body, and all friends of Temperance are requested to be present.

2d. The fourth coming on Sunday the pic nic will be on Saturday.

3d. We recommend a basket picnic to be held on the farm of Anderson (Gillis), on the South road, about half way between Jefferson and Eagleville. (This must not be confounded with the farm formerly owned by Thomas Gillis on the North road.)

4th. There will be both brass and martial music, swings for children, and there is a fine spring of drinking water, and plenty of creek water for tea. Refreshments, such as sandwiches, cookies, ice-cream, oranges, candy lemonade, etc. will be sold on the ground.

5th. The exercises will commence promptly at a quarter of eleven, and proceed as follows:

First.—Singing by the audience, America. [Let every one present be able to sing.]

Second.—Prayer.

Third.—The Juvenile Templars of Jefferson, an organization of children with 90 members, will hold one of their open lodge sessions on the speakers platform, their exercises being their opening ceremony followed by a recitation of three chapters from their temperance catechism, dialogues, recitations, songs, essays, declamations, and their closing ceremony.

Fourth.—Singing by the Glee club.

Fifth.—Music by the Band.

Sixth.—Five minute speeches till half past twelve.

It is hoped our people will be glad to celebrate the fourth in this innocent, yet profitable and pleasant manner, and that we may see four or five thousand of our Temperance men and women enjoying themselves on this occasion.

We have secured from Mr. Gillis the entire control of the ground for that day, and any one wishing any information will inquire of E. Jay Pinney, Jefferson.

Reply to Rajax.

"Rajax in his last article alluded to Northway as the author of the road law passed while he was in the legislature.

The fact is Judge R. D. Tibbals of Akron was the author of the law, and it was a Senate bill. At the time the law was passed it was suggested in some one of the county papers, that Mr. Kellogg was the author, which brought out the fact of his ignorance of what was done in the legislature when Mr. Northway was there. Perhaps Rajax did not then live in Jefferson or this county. Rajax asks for Mr. Northway's record. Mr. N. was in the legislature 15 years ago, and was there but one term, and consequently could not make a very extensive record, but at the close of that term he was universally conceded to be one of the leaders of the house. He made the leading speech in opposition to the passage of the Morgan rail bill. He also was chosen as leader to have charge of Mr. Kellogg's constitutional amendment to strike the word "white" out of the constitution, when it went to the House, which amendment was submitted to the people, and Mr. N. made many speeches in Ashtabula county, in favor of its adoption, while we do not remember that Rajax's candidate made one.

It is not the number of bills introduced by a member of the legislature which marks his consequence, but his ability to advocate good measures or oppose bad ones, indicate his standing.

If Mr. N. helped to pass measures which were afterwards repealed how about Mr. Howland? Let Rajax tell us about Mr. Howland's pet measure which became a law, and which provided that no appeal could be had from a judgment of a Justice of the Peace, unless such judgment should be "one hundred dollars" or over. This law became so odious that both political parties demanded its repeal and it was repealed in one year after its passage.

How about the famous District Court bill, which the Supreme Court of our State held to be unconstitutional.

How about the constitutional amendment which was submitted to a vote of our people three or four years ago, and which was voted down by a great many thousands of votes, and which cost many thousands of dollars to the tax payers of our state.

How about that other constitutional amendment of his which was voted down by an overwhelming vote one year ago last fall, and which also cost our tax payers many thousands of dollars.

Can it be said Rajax's candidate has always been successful or voted for measures which were wise or beneficial?

Does Rajax really think he is unknown? If so he is badly mistaken, for it is generally understood that the real author and dictator of the articles signed Rajax, is closely related to the candidate whose cause he seeks to manage and aid, by raising false issues and stirring up personal animosities. Mr. Rajax, allow me to inform you that you put too low an estimate on the good sense and judgment of the Republicans of Ashtabula County, when you undertake to stir up an ill feeling between two candidates which you are in hopes will prevent the friends of one candidate assisting in the nomination of the other, if it became evident that their first choice can not be nominated. We have, perhaps, unluckily, two candidates. If we can not get one we would like the other.

You asked in your last if Mr. Haskell asked the question fairly as to the withdrawal of the weaker man? Yes. The question was asked as fair as it could be, and as far as Mr. Northway was concerned was answered, but you do not answer the question, and your excuses are very poor and lame.

It is the opinion of the writer that you enjoy close enough relation with Mr. Howland and his family to know his mind about such matters, and the intelligent Republicans of this district cannot be fooled by any such replies. It is well not to be too selfish in political matters, as well as other things.

Ashtabula, June 10. "ASHTABULA."

FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

Our townsman L. Mafout, has just purchased the whole oak timber on the farm of R. P. Mann, in Plymouth. The contract calls for $3000 for the timber and about that much more labor.

Ex-Conductor B. B. Mead, is visiting his friends in Conneaut. Mead is one of the large and prosperous farmers of Michigan, and looks as if the business was congenial to his tastes.

Re-Sheriff Young is doing a good job at farming and grading on his place a mile south of this village. His maxim is like Horace Greeley's "Good farming pays everywhere, poor farming nowhere." We understand that it is his intention to convert the swampy part of it into a garden devoted mostly to celery for foreign markets.

Mr. L. H. Norton of East Conneaut, brought to our office on Tuesday morning a double chicken as far as legs and wings are concerned. The legs were fully developed, the extra pair starting from the breast bone under the wings, while the other pair of wings was hardly visible.

Rev. C. A. Richardson has made an engagement to preach in Lenox. He moved his family to that place yesterday. No arrangements have been completed yet to supply the vacancy here.

WINDSOR.

Ed. Tel.—Some complaints are heard of rusting wheat from hot wet weather, along back.

A. H. Skinner, leading merchant and miller of Windsor mills, with P. M. Babcock, clerk, is doing a lively business, and keeps a good stock, such as is demanded in a country store. He has also a large trade in flour and grain. He keeps a very competent miller who has charge of the mill.

James Hawthorne & Son of Hartgrove do a good business in the manufacture of picture frames. James is on the road with strawberries, selling at five cents a quart. He counts up his product at 2000 quarts of his own raising.

Dr. Grover, of Hartgrove, keeps his fingers pretty steadily on the public pulse, and is doing his best to carry his patients smoothly through the world. He is good deal of a success in the line of pills and potions.

Will Bacon—the well-known cattle dealer, is still on the road, and with his liberal prices picks them up pretty lively. His.

A CARD.—I would refer any person needing the services of a veterinary surgeon, to Dr. Helst, office in Willard's new store. I have the satisfaction to say that a cow at my place, treated by him, has fully recovered, though pronounced by others to be past help at the time of his first visit. In the fulfillment of good to so useful an animal as the horse or cow, I recommend him to the friendly attention of farmers, who will find his principles of treatment as an art wonderful for the sure and infallible results which follow his treatment. His medical improvements are of vital importance to every man who handles horses or cattle. I have taken pains to give him a personal investigation, and find Dr. Helst to be a modest, unassuming young man of practical experience, and no humbug, and I advise all men to avail themselves of his theory. This announcement is unalloyed by Dr. Helst.
